Volunteer Visitor

- I look forward to the days my volunteer comes. She is very kind and caring and helps me a lot
- Very good service
- A great help to have a visitor to take my husband out for a couple of hours every fortnight, allowing me time to shop etc.
- Yes knowing there is help at the end of the phone when you don't know where to turn
- Gets me to the shops/change of scenery/out and about
- A break for the carer and another face for Mum to see. Our volunteer visitor is lovely with Mum, holding her hand and comforting her whilst I get on with other jobs
- Yes, I have a good friend to talk to and rely on
- As a carer for my partner it's given me the chance to go to different farming sales for a break knowing she is in safe hands and has someone to talk to. Thank you.
- A friendly face and company
- My volunteer visitor is excellent
- Enabled me to go to riding for the disabled on a Thursday afternoon
- My wife is taken out once a fortnight which helps me to have some free time
- Enjoy the company
- When I have a volunteer sitter I can have a short break
- I enjoy the company of my extremely pleasant volunteer visitor
- Allowing a little free time
- Returning home after major surgery, I was given the help and support I needed to make a good recovery
- After having panic attacks the weekly visits by one of your ladies has given me my confidence back
- Volunteer visitor has been a great support
- I can get out and socialise otherwise I have to rely on my family
- Having a couple of hours to go for a walk or visit someone while a volunteer sits with my wife is something I appreciate
- The person I care for doesn't get the opportunity to go out and see people very often. Having a new person to talk to makes a difference to his mood. I also get time for a coffee – guilt free
- The volunteer enables me to leave my husband who really enjoys someone different and interesting to talk to
- Yes, have a lovely friend with the volunteer visitor
- Our volunteer enabled my husband and I to have time on our own whilst the volunteer sat with my mother
- The two hour visit to my wife gives me a break from 24/7 routine. This also gives my wife a lift having a chat about everyday things with someone different

- My husband goes walking with his volunteer which is something he enjoys. He is always more light hearted when he returns. I have a couple of hours to myself which I usually use to pay bills, make phone calls and generally keep on top of things
- A friendly face and cheerful conversation with the opportunity to walk or go shopping. A great help at difficult times
- A volunteer visitor has given me 'me time'
- Having the chance to speak to someone
- Before I only had myself to talk to and only went in the garden. I didn't go out but now I go to the shops
- I was devastated when my last relative died and after clearing the house and sale I was defeated mentally, physically, emotionally and very, very isolated. Many areas of help were simply not there or 'too busy'. I was passed to an RCS member of staff who arranged for a volunteer visitor. Only very slowly am I picking up the pieces and trying to find a reason to gather strength and try to continue alone
- Yes, very helpful, very reassuring to have a kind and friendly face to come and check up on my father and to spend a little time chatting to him when I am not here
- My volunteer has become a very good friend
- Yes it gives us a break and is much appreciated

Support Groups

- I didn't feel so isolated when struggling as a carer.
- The relief of not having to explain
- Provided contact with people
- Yes, it gets me out and I meet people
- Listening to others, hearing their experiences about being a carer has helped me feel less isolated. I look forward to the planned monthly activities. I enjoy the company and experiencing new activities. It gives me 'authorised' time out
- Support groups prevent social isolation
- Got useful information from some of the talks
- To get out and about for a while
- Keeps me in contact with people

Songs and Scones

- My husband died 5 years ago since when I have been going to songs and scones and enjoying the outing
- I look forward to meeting old friends and new ones. I appreciate the sense of 'belonging to' it creates
- Songs and scones enjoyable but Dad finding it increasingly difficult to concentrate for any length of time and now enjoys going to 'Musical Memories' where he is more actively involved.

- A feeling of belonging
- Songs and scones is very enjoyable. We enjoy the interaction with other people
- It's nice to mix with other people and helpful staff
- I have made new friends and got out when life was difficult, and I always feel that I am cared for. I look forward to it
- When I first started taking care of Mum in 2015 there came a point when I very much needed to talk to someone. I rang RCS and they listened which is all I needed. We now go to songs and scones – wonderful music, musicians, organisation, friendliness. We love it.
- Made new friends
- I have met up with friends I've not seen for many years, which has been very good. Unfortunately, we're all a lot older and not many of us can still drive
- I enjoy meeting other people and the excellent entertainment and refreshments. Very grateful to the transport that is provided
- I really enjoy a trip out to songs and scones, it maybe the only time I get out
- The events have been very helpful and enjoyable. The transport is good as I am not very good on my feet
- Gets me out and I see other people

Farmers Breakfast

- I enjoy the company
- Its got me out more, talking to different people. I enjoy it a lot
- Because they give me the break we need from time to time
- More company
- My husband has been picked up to go to Farmers Breakfast so this has given him a bit of independence away from home also a few hours respite for me

Any improvements to RCS services?

- More home visits
- Help with my iPad
- My experiences with RCS has not given rise for any need to improve existing services
- Social gatherings or groups
- Being invited to days out or other social occasions
- Making sure the person who provides transport can help and manage somebody in a wheelchair with getting into a car etc
- Set up electronic mail and payment for outings etc
- Getting known. I only found RCS by accident
- Information about what services are available for carers. Sometimes I feel abandoned by social services and mental health and am going around in circles.
- Would RCS provide care when my usual volunteer is away?
- Having someone to introduce a new member to all the existing support group members
- More computer courses

Anything you would pay for?

- Days out
- Very happy to pay towards any expenses
- I would happily pay for a course that the person I care for could really get his teeth into. He misses using his brain
- Normal monthly trips – happy to pay for the refreshments
- Overnight care
- Outings – social occasions
- Exercise sessions for older people
- Shopping
- More regular sitting service
- Transport

Additional Comments

- The only downside is that we weren't aware of you and the support you could offer until we really searched for help. We went a long time with minimal support
- Keep up the good work. The advice and support you have given has been invaluable
- My mother died at the age of 97, she was in residential care, but her volunteer still went in to visit her
- Thank you for all your support over the years

- It is great to know we can have our volunteers support. We are very grateful
- We much appreciate our 2-hour fortnightly visit which is helping very much. However more visits would be nice
- Thank you, well done, keep up the good work
- Thank you for the prompt response to my request for someone to walk with my husband. It makes such a difference to both of us and we appreciate it very much
- We really appreciate this service and I would be lost without it
- I want to say how much my husband enjoys attending farmers breakfast
- Thank you all!
- Keep up the good work. The advice and support you have given has been invaluable
- Very pleased with the service - no complaints
- I look forward to my volunteer coming with her dog – I really enjoy her company
- Yes, just thank you for everything
- You are doing a good job
- There is a great lack of support for carers. Most of the 'support' offered by 'official' bodies is just talk or a website on the internet. RCS is different. It offers practical support which can include the 'cared for' if desired.
- Please carry on doing this excellent service
